Foreword

We hereby submit to you this volume of the Sibylline, with the hope that our labors, though imperfect, have not been in vain; that as the world rushes madly on this book may often bring a moment's pause in which past toil and fun, ideals and dreams, may be recalled with pleasure. May we ever, with feet firm upon the ground, yet soar among the clouds and feel the freshness and freedom of the air beyond; may we dream of greater things and strive earnestly to achieve them.

DEDICATION

To that dominant American spirit so clearly manifested today in our heroes of the air, that spirit which leads "UPWARD and ONWARD," that spirit which fires us with the determination to rise above our surroundings, to persevere in great deeds and noble living, this 1931 Sibylline is appreciatively dedicated.

Past Flights

In September, 1927, the Spirit of Mt. Carmel High again landed on the campus, with one hundred beginners for a four-year course in aviation. The first year's activities began with the selection of Miss Martin and Miss Goedecke to guide our class through difficulties to success. We chose as officers of the Freshman Class Robert Mundy, President; Dorothy Seybold, Vice-President.

Though rather inexperienced at first, we soon adjusted ourselves to the ups and downs of a flier's life. In October we entertained the ghosts and spooks at a Hallowe'en party. In the spring a weiner roast and skating party was enjoyed. After nine months of hard study our first year's course—the necessary groundwork—was completed.

Following a three-months vacation from the mechanics of English, Geometry, etc., we returned to our training grounds, determined to make every chance count. Many new instructors greeted us this year. We chose as sponsors Miss Wooley and Miss McCartney to guide our class of about one hundred fifteen Sophomores. As officers we elected John Harrison, President; Robert Henneberger, Vice-President; Clarence Walter, Secretary-Treasurer. A kid party was given in the spring, at which time we all went dressed as kids and indulged in childish antics. In March we followed our basketball team to Champaign but were unable to cheer them to victory.

The fall of 1929 found us returning to those familiar halls and rooms we loved so well, decreased in number but not lacking in spirit, for we were now Juniors. We selected for our guiding lights Robert Henneberger, President; Darrell Joachims, Vice-President; Ella Marie Smith, Secretary; Maxine Smith, Treasurer. We missed Mr. Cobb, but Mr. Condrey was in his place, and Mr. Scales was our new principal. Many changes were introduced into the school life, among them the organization of many clubs and the establishment of a Student Council and local chapters of the National Honor Society and National Athletic Honor Society. This year our band, in only its second year, won, under the competent direction of Mr. Perkins, the sectional band contest, bringing a new distinction to our school. Mr. Barnds and Miss O'Neal skillfully and untiringly piloted us through the activities of the year. Various money-making schemes engaged our time. School colors were sold; checking rooms were kept at all the basketball games. "A Message from Mars," given by the McMurray players of Chicago, was sponsored by the class. Our own Junior play, "The Ghost Parade," added glory to our ranks and money to our treasury. The crowning event of the year was the Junior-Senior banquet, held on the deck of the S. S. Senior under a starlit sky.

As Seniors we returned to make our last year a most happy and eventful one. Our class officers, who filled their places well and helped the class to achieve success, were Hugh Frey, President; Cleve Stroh, Vice-President; Thelma Brockett, Secretary; Calvin Clark, Treasurer. Our sponsors were Mr. Arrick and Miss O'Neal, whom we wish to thank for their never-failing help and advice. During the first semester much fun was had at a Hallowe'en party and dance. The more talented members of our class put on the play "Ruth in a Rush," which proved to be quite a success. Candy sold at football and basketball games helped increase the treasury. In the spring the class sponsored the Athletic Banquet, given to honor both girl and boy athletes. The last weeks of school have passed quickly by, and as graduation time has drawn near we have begun to realize that our days with our Alma Mater are very short, and we look back over those four brief years as ones spent in hope and success for most of the members of our class in "Aviation." And so as we leave Mt. Carmel High School to go out into the world we shall go "Upward and Onward" through sorrow and happiness, failure and success.

SOLILOQUY OF A SENIOR

In spite of all that you may say,
I still by my opinion stay,
That knowledge that in school is learned
Points out the way our life will turn;
So study hard now while you may,
Prepare yourself for life's hard way.

The better you each lesson learn,
Toward better ways this life you turn;
Success is not a weary road,
Prepare yourself to take its load;
So study hard as the days roll on—
The rest of school will not be long.

—MARY ELLEN MOYER.

TRUTHFULNESS

Speaking of things that go to make
A student of sterling worth,
And one that is sincere today
In the life of all the earth.

Who's sincere to his teachers and to all,
And truthful through and through
To all the very finest things
That he can be or do.

Who's truthful to his teachers,
To his ideals and his friends,
And truthful to his better self
On which so much depends.

Who's truthful to his highest dreams,
His God, his faith, his Creed;
For if he's true in all these ways
A student he is, indeed.

—CECIL STANLEY.

Future Flights

Yes, there it was again—that funny knock in the engine. Just then the pilot turned to me and shouted, "Something's wrong. Jump!" Hastily I leaped from the plane, counted to ten, and pulled the cord that opened the 'chute. Descending rapidly through the air I found I was not alone. There beside me, suspended by a miniature parachute, was a tiny brownie with a huge book which he opened before me. Slowly he began to turn the leaves, and I was amazed to see revealed the future of my well-known classmates.

First pictured was a large studio flooded with light and before the easel a well-known artist, Elinor Rodgers.

Next appeared a meeting of the newly-elected city officers—Mary Ellen Moyer, mayor; Blanche Burns, city clerk; and Ethel Bass, Velma Kaiser, Dorothy Kolb, and Elizabeth Crow, city commissioners. Page the men!

Glen Bright was an undertaker—apparently a very cheerful and successful crepehanger.

A specialist, gravely discussing his profession with a group of distinguished people, proved to be John T. Lovellette.

What a blissful scene! Irene Bline and Leonard Hunt were happily married and living in Chicago.

John Short, having disregarded his father's wish that he become an undertaker, was a tonsorial artist.

Woodrow Hinderliter, a professor at the University of Illinois, was treating his chemistry students to a lively explosion.

Clarice Kramer, Maxine Smith, and Helen Esther Reisinger were the most popular co-eds on the U. of I. campus.

Join the Navy and see the world! And that's exactly what Glenn Baggerly, Lewis Latture, Howard Ehret, and Verle Baker had done.

Calvin Clark's fame as a negro impersonator had far exceeded that of Al Jolson.

Ivan Culbreth was also a famous artist. I recalled that his Good English Poster had received first prize.

Lucky! Bernard Berberich was a West Point Cadet, keen uniform n'all!

Well! Our boys' quartette, Clarence Walter, John Harrison, Richard Schmitt, and Marlin Riggs, was causing quite a sensation by their broadcasting.

Darrell Joachims was a talented violinist playing to packed houses.

Helen Leach had entered upon the sea of matrimony with her school-day sweetheart from Bellmont.

Cecil Stanley was a famous physician, known in Europe as well as in the United States.

Pauline Ginther had successfully passed a civil service examination and had a government position at Washington.

Robert Henneberger was a noted aviator, and the idol of millions.

Hugh Frey, Evelyn Hershey, and William Newkirk were the members of a band led by Carroll Risley. You can imagine its popularity.

Helen Gereau was a famous song writer.

What! A rival of Greta Garbo? Yes, that is what Dorothy Seybold, a movie star, was considered by many to be.

Mary Beanblossom had made a great sacrifice. She was a missionary in the heart of darkest Africa.

George Ewing had amassed a fortune reported to surpass that of Rockefeller, and girls—he was a bachelor!

Among the dignified Justices of the Supreme Court were Lyle Willhite, Ivan Seibert, Oliver Stewart, and Euris Marx.

Bernard Seitz was a tennis player whose serving was considered miraculous.

The winner of a motorcycle race at Indianapolis proved to be none other than LaVerne Schuler.

Future Flights—Continued

Robert Mundy and Raymond Fridrich were married to their schoolday sweethearts.

Cleve Stroh, Max Kennard, Gene Kennard, Porter Compton, and Ben Richardson comprised a snappy basketball five who had already defeated Lawrenceville twice.

Hugh Kilfoil and Robert Keeler of Harvard and Roberta Foster of Wellesley took part in a debate held between the two schools.

Thelma Carrell was a French instructor and Sylvia Hadley a Civics teacher at Mt. Carmel High.

Harry McClintock was president of a bank in Denver.

A successful Congresswoman from Illinois was Helene Kohlhaas.

Wilburn Simpson was a floorwalker in a large department store in Cleveland, his supercilious manner disconcerting to many.

An exclusive apparel shop in Los Angeles was owned by Geraldine Sperry.

Clarence and Wendell McMahel were skating from New York to San Francisco. The newspapers were playing up the brotherly love idea.

Adolph Baumgart was a successful farmer, aiding in the wheat and corn production of the U. S.

Opal Ewing was a famous designer whose astounding creations were taking the continent by storm.

Oh! A glimpse of society! Eileen Milburn was one of the most popular young "debs" of the day.

Alberta Meier was selling tickets at her husband's theatre in Allendale.

Maxine Hershey was a pharmacist's wife, Grant having graduated from Purdue.

Bessie Rose was a Red Cross nurse, devoting her life to the sick and afflicted.

The dancing classes of Dorothy Lechner and Norma Wolz were filled to capacity.

Harold Wood was attending the University of Illinois.

Throngs of girls were attending the personal appearance of Warren Moyer, a very popular actor, at a large theatre in Chicago.

Donald Malcolm was a soda jerker, and his specimens of that art were preferred by all the young moderns.

Claude Collins had chosen a very peculiar occupation. He was an expert at mending old documents and papers of value.

Elvin Woods was a cigarette manufacturer, and Alma Presnell and Gilbert Walston his advertising managers.

The wrath of many students fell on Herbert Painter—he was a text-book writer. 'Nuff said!

Sssh! Robert Beauchamp was a secret service sleuth. Criminals trembled at the mere mention of his name.

George Lucas was a book agent, his glib tongue and suave manner serving him well.

John Ramsey was an algebra teacher, much liked by all his pupils.

Gus Simonds was the owner of a bus line. Two of his capable drivers were Carroll Schuler and Charles Snyder.

Clarence Partee was a noted inventor. A glance into his workshop showed a number of things which an inexperienced person would doubtless consider trivial, but to Clarence, with his master mind, they held great possibilities.

A kindergarten class of many eager children was taught by Sarah Louise Schrodt.

Rhea Schrodt was just a little home girl, and what a cook!

Robert Beckerman was conducting an agricultural experiment station in Topeka, Kansas.

Due to his great prowess Harry Roberts had won many boxing titles.

The chief chemist in a large factory in Detroit proved to be none other than Milton Tucker.

Floyd Eckiss was an electrician—quite a live wire!

Just then I met the earth with a jolt, and after recovering from the shock I looked around to thank the kind brownie and tell him how glad I was that he had disclosed the facts about my classmates, but he was nowhere to be seen.

—THELMA BROCKETT.

MY DESIRE

I wish that I might live again
The years I've spent in idle dreams;
And see the beauty of this earth,
To understand what it all means.
I'd like to travel o'er again
The paths that I have trod,
And note the things I failed to see
That were given us by God.
I'd watch the stars and moonlight night,
The sun at early morn,
To see the beauty in each flower
And the things of nature born.

—THELMA CARRELL.

SOAP BUBBLES

A softened breath blown through a straw
Makes bubbles big and bubbles small,
A child's delight, "Hurrah! Hurrah!"

A silver sheen of varied hues
Goes up in air, first reds then blues,
A nursery game for fours, yes twos!

They're off! Now they've faded out of vision,
What ho! Jack's and Betty's have collision!
It's bubble days with fun provision!

With soapied hands and splattered dress
And each one making his the best,
For bubble speeding, cops arrest!

—HELEN E. REISINGER

THE ASSEMBLY CLOCK

I am alone and forgotten. From me no sound is heard, and my once busy hands have ceased their circling of my handsome face. There was once a day when the students gave me their undivided attention in order to ascertain the time of day, and watched eagerly as I ticked away the remaining minutes of the period. I was once the guardian angel of that whole vast study hall and received more attention with my tireless ticking than Mr. Scales could command with all his eloquent oratory.

But now when the time of day is wanted the students simply consult an imp of a wrist watch and never turn my way. The alarming thing is that nothing is being done about my idleness.

—HARRY ROBERTS.

Last Will and Testament

We, the Class of 1931, being of (?) mind and sound body, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament, and do give, devise and bequeath, in manner and form following:

Our debts, to anyone who will assume them, to be paid and satisfied in convenient time after our departure.

Our heart-felt thanks for your support, and the sincere hope that you thoroughly enjoy this book, to all subscribers of the Annual.

A special accommodation to insure the safe arrival of her letters from Raleigh, North Carolina, to Clyda Jean Deputy.

Some of Floyd Eckiss' superfluous avoirdupois, to Julianne Seitz.

Mary Ellen Moyer's unobtrusive qualities, to Margaret Kelly.

Seats on the east side of the assembly next year, so they may entertain their Freshman girl friends without causing general confusion, to John Rigg and Curtis Benner.

A device for automatically filling out blue slips while he searches for evil-doers upon whom they can be conferred, to Mr. Deerwester.

Dot Kolb's apparent love for talking, laughing, and creating a disturbance, to anyone who wants it.

Our permission to stay out all night, to Bobby Lukens.

Tump's sweet (?) way of refusing dates, to Gilbert Froman.

A way to ensnare Bob Henneberger, to Glendene BeDell.

Warren Moyer's technique in getting different girls' rings, to Jimmie Collins.

A new man for next year, to Margaret Rue Stansfield.

A book of all the new lines to be used on his many girl friends, to Sefton Latham.

A chance to be a man-hater, to Clara Steckler.

Marlin Riggs' powerful vehicle to be used as a means of transportation to Bridgeport, to Maralinn Kern.

All the dates she wants with Georgie, to Miss O'Neal.

The privilege of being Junior class sponsor next year in order that he can direct another good Junior class play, to George Barnds.

Glenn Baggerly's wise-cracks and "cute" ways, to "Bunky" Painter.

Hugh Frey's popularity with the girls, to someone worthy of it.

Much luck in keeping their boy friends, to all the girls that have them.

Just one more chance to be with "Gussie," to Mr. Perkins.

Our permission to beat Lawrenceville, to next year's football and basketball teams.

Our smartness and sophistication, to the Freshmen.

Our original ideas for making money, to the Juniors; to the Sophomores, our unusual ability for spending it.

To the Staff of '32, much success in "putting over" their Sibylline.

To the faculty and school in general, the ability to survive without us.

Lastly, we appoint our loving advisers, Mr. Arrick and Miss O'Neal, as executors of this, our last will and testament, in witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands and seal, this twenty-ninth day of May, nineteen hundred thirty-one.

ACTIVITIES OF THE YEAR

The Junior Class had as its sponsors Mr. Barnds and Miss Dixon, who ably directed its activities. In October the members enjoyed a Hallowe'en party. To help meet the demands on the treasury the class sponsored a group of programs given by the Brown Lyceum Company. Wraps were checked at basketball games and other activities held in the new gymnasium. A three-act comedy, "The Family Upstairs," was given in the spring, which revealed a great deal of talent in the class. The main social function of the year, the Junior-Senior Banquet, was a fitting climax.

THE SCHOOL

The school, a place of deepest thought,
A place where knowledge should be sought,
A place where we should loyal live,
A place to which we ought to give
Our best, whatever it may be,
Our time, our work, our sympathy,
Our honor, life, and all the rest,
To make our school the very best.

If we do this and live just right
Prosperity should be in sight.
But if we fail to reach the goal,
"We did our best" surpasses gold.

—RAY TROUTMAN.

FANTASY

I wish I were a red balloon
A sailing in the sky;
I wish I were an aeroplane,
Then I could pass me by.

I wish that I could be Bo-Peep
And roam in pastures green;
I wish that I could go to sleep
And have a fairy dream.

I wish I were a Chinese coat,
Just purple, blue, and red;
I wish I were Queen Guinevere,
But then I would be dead!

I wish I were a spinning top,
A goblin or a flee;
But why do I forever wish
When I can be just me?

—FRANCES PARKINSON.

MY PHILOSOPHY

While sitting by a chatt'ring brook
And dreaming lazily,
Did you ever once compare it
With—well, just you or me?

The brook is only starting out,
And so are we in youth;
The rapids it encounters
Will be our fights for truth.

It won't encounter many
While it's just a tiny brook,
Because it's safely sheltered
In this cool refreshing nook.

But when its stream flows onward
Into the ocean wide,
It's tossed about and almost lost
In white-cap waves and tide.

Sometimes the ocean grows quite calm,
Sometimes it's in a rage,
But it comes back to peacefulness
As we grow old with age.

If you are quite disgusted
With my philosophy,
Just draw a breath and fall to rest—
I'm quitting instantly.

ACTIVITIES OF THE YEAR

The talented Sophomore Class has contributed liberally to our music and athletic organizations this year, in spite of its small numbers. The class, which is sponsored by Miss Baird and Mr. Garrett, held a Christmas party in the old gym before the holidays. The evening was spent in contests and playing games. Delicious refreshments were served, after which Santa Claus arrived and distributed many amusing gifts.

TO A PASSING TREE

Lonely sentinel on the hill,
Whom the wind hath lashed at will,
Arms outstretched and branches torn,
Spent and weary, gnarled and worn,
Thy great spirit lulled to rest.

Winter storms around thee beat,
Summer suns with all their heat
Only serve to add more strength,
Giving to your life its length,
Valiant spirit manifest.

Now thy days of life must end,
Thou hast lived beyond the bend,
Younger, firmer life holds sway,
It must always be this way—
Thus God's law to us exprest.

—MARGARET RUE STANSFIELD.

FRIENDSHIP

One of the highest delights of life
Is to have a good friend in peace and strife.
Real friendship will abide all time,
It endureth long and is always kind.

Friendship has its heights serene,
Its valleys know few clouds between;
If you to friendship do aspire,
Affection, too, you must acquire.

—ALINE GOODART.

TO A CLARINET

The hours I've spent with thee
Have been like centuries to me,
I've blown thee till my lips would bleed,
And yet no thanks from thee.

I've sacrificed my joys and glees,
I've suffered mortal agony,
I've practiced and tried so hard to be,
Something that the world might see.

I love to go home at night and see
That direful clarinet waiting for me,
I'll count the hours till I can see
That clarinet in purgatory.

ACTIVITIES OF THE YEAR

The Freshman Class, sponsored by Miss Goedecke and Mr. Mowery, is the largest ever to enter Mt. Carmel High School. Both girls and boys have taken part in athletics this year, and they will have an opportunity to show their ability in many other activities during the next three years. The class held a masked Hallowe'en party in October. A thrilling ghost walk, games and relays, and a grand march to select the king and queen of the evening furnished the entertainment. Later refreshments were served.

JUST FRESHMEN

We are a jolly bunch you see—
One hundred fifty strong,
We're not so green as we're meant to be,
And we're not always wrong.

We get the blame for what's amiss
And still we are good sports,
Although it's anything but bliss,
We're never out of sorts.

You look down upon us "Freshies,"
But to this you must agree—
If there were not any Freshmen
What a queer school it would be!

—CLAIRE GRUBBS.

A SMILE

Just something each day—a smile,
You can give this once in a while.
The world is full of sadness,
But you can help fill it with gladness.
If the sky is blue and clear,
There's a smile you can give to cheer,
For a smile for every day
Makes the pleasure of life more gay.
If the sky above you is gray,
You must never feel that way.
For a smile for every day
Makes it joyful all the way.

—LUCILE HUGHES.

BE A BOOSTER!

If you think your school's the best,
Tell 'em so!
If you'd have it lead the rest,
Help it grow!
When there's anything to do,
Let the others count on you—
You'll feel good when it is through;
Be a booster!

—HELEN SMITH.

MY DOG

I love my dog and he loves me,
And where I am he's sure to be,
I have no friend as good as he,
Few lovers are as true as we;
I'm sure he's kept my secrets yet—
For that to him I'm deep in debt.

With Our Team During the 1930 Season

The opening of school brought a season pleasing to every boy's heart, the season when the oval pigskin is booted and carried up and down the gridiron. The beginning of the season saw about forty prospective warriors out in uniform. Practice began in earnest and one by one the team candidates dropped out until about twenty-five men remained to constitute the squad during the 1930 season.

The Mt. Carmel boys started the season off with a new experience, that of playing at night. The team journeyed to Sullivan, Indiana, but returned home on the short end of an 8-0 score. Sullivan's slight superiority and the "breaks" accounted for our team's defeat.

Undismayed by defeat in their first attempt, they played their next game with Grayville on the home field. Mt. Carmel, superior to the weak Grayville team, rolled up a score of 28-0. The victory cost us the services of Harold Camp, whose arm was broken in the fray. The team showed improvement over their efforts of a week earlier.

The next encounter of the season was with the Bridgeport Bulldogs. Using an aerial attack combined with ground gaining line plunges, the Bulldogs chalked up a victory of 12-0 over Mt. Carmel. The support given the team was commendable.

Journeying some eighty miles to the west the Mt. Carmel warriors landed in Mt. Vernon. Playing their best game of the year the two teams fought to a 13-13 tie.

FOOTBALL SQUAD

Football—Continued

Next in line came the strong Memorial Tigers of Reitz at Evansville. It was a night game with cold and damp weather prevailing. The superior playing of the Tigers accounted for the overwhelming score of 45-0.

The team next played their last home game. The opponents were the time-old rivals, the Indians from Lawrenceville. Our eleven seemed unable to stop the Indians, who won, 19-0.

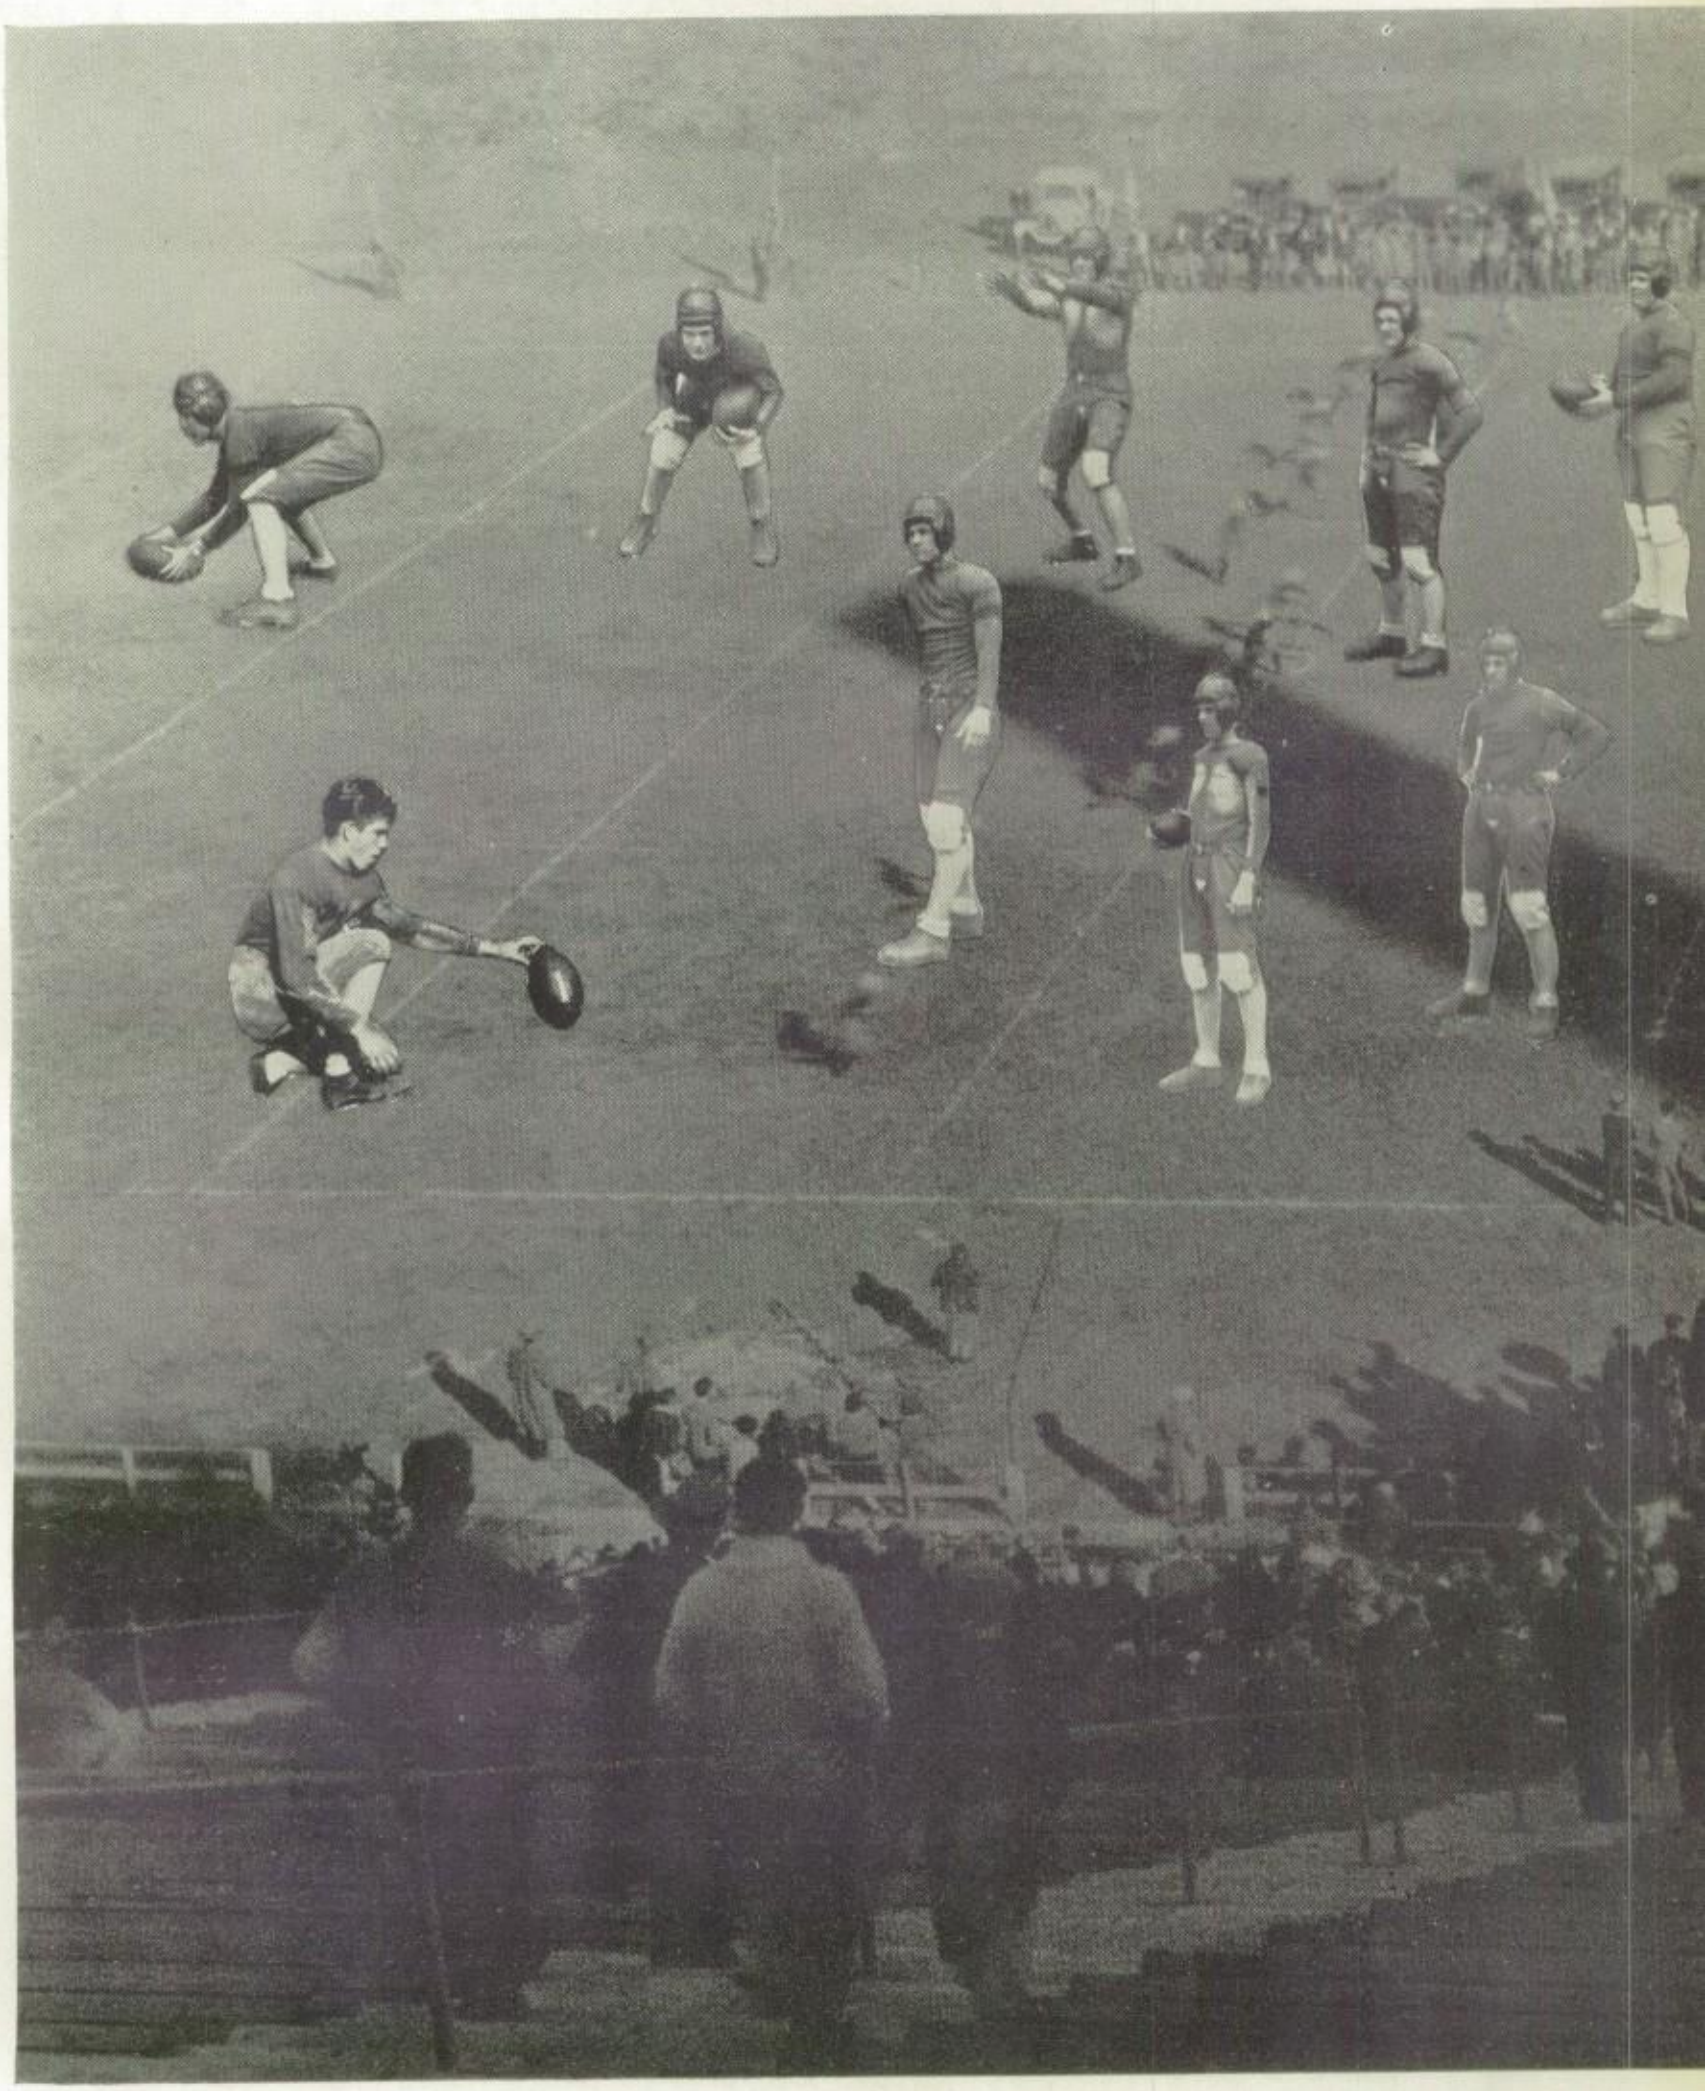
For their next contest the team traveled north to Olney. In a closely played game, between two evenly matched teams, scoreless until the last few minutes of play, our warriors scored a touchdown and won 6-0.

With an apparent liking for Evansville teams, we played our following game with the Reitz Hilltoppers on their home field. The aggressive and much heavier Reitz team battered the line and using an aerial attack won by a score of 32-6.

Again the gang went west, this time to Fairfield. The Mt. Carmel team threatened Fairfield's goal a number of times but could not get the pigskin across, while Fairfield by desperate playing pushed the ball over for a single tally and won, 6-0.

After a rest of almost two weeks the boys went to Princeton Thanksgiving Day, determined to win. However Mt. Carmel was destined to defeat, and the Princeton Tigers were able to give thanks for a 13-0 victory.

Although the boys played a total of ten games, winning two and tying one, they improved upon the record of 1929. The team is to be commended for its spirit throughout the season. May the 1931 team continue to improve our football standing.



PERSONNEL OF FOOTBALL SQUAD

HENNEBERGER (Tackle)—"Henny," our powerful tackle filled the position of captain well. Calling plays, on defense and offense, he proved his worth and his ability in handling the team.

SIMONDS (End)—"Gus" was one of the team's best linesmen. He tackled hard, blocked well, and played his best every moment of the game.

M. KENNARD (Tackle)—"Max" was our fast and aggressive tackle from Keensburg. This year was his first on the football field, but he was one of the team's hardest-hitting linesmen.

LAFFERTY (Guard)—"Eddie," our small but mighty guard, showed that even though he lacked size he had the courage of a good football player, displaying a consistent brand of good football throughout the season.

HINDERLITER (Center)—"Woody" was one of the biggest men on the team, a real obstacle to opposing centers. His passing was above par.

PAINTER (Guard)—This was "Herb's" first year as a first team linesman, and he proved himself capable of filling his position. His charging and blocking was very good.

MUNDY (End)—"Bob" played end again this year, displaying a good brand of football during the season. His experience was evident in his playing.

MANTLE (Halfback)—"Tump," star backfield man, came to us with a couple of years' experience received at DuQuoin. He did most of the passing and punting until he was injured in the Reitz game. This was his Junior year.

H. CAMP (Quarterback)—"Harold" has also a year of first team competition to his credit. Unfortunately breaking his arm in the Grayville game, he was unable to play again until the contest with Fairfield.

C. CAMP (Halfback)—"Con," though inexperienced at first, did his part like a veteran when put into the game. He tackled viciously and was in every play. He will be a valuable man next year.

DeWITT (Halfback)—"Bruno's" two years of experience in the line of football showed plainly in the season's play. In his plunges through the line or around he was good for some kind of gain. Much will be expected of him next year.

COTNER (Fullback)—"Adrian," in his second year of first team play, has proved his mettle during the season. He was strong on making line plunges, and his defensive playing was above par. He will be back next year.

G. KENNARD (Center, Guard)—"Gene," our hard fighting guard and center, came to us from Keensburg and although this was his first try at football, he proved himself worthy of a letter.

SNYDER (Center, Guard)—"Max" was the heaviest man on the team and used his weight to full advantage when on the field, playing both his positions in satisfactory manner. We are glad that he has another year with us.

HUNGERFORD (End)—"Dade" was our stability when it came to receiving forward passes, because of his height. Much will be expected of him in his next two years at Mt. Carmel High.

ATKINSON (Quarterback)—"Dell," one of the fastest men in the team's backfield, was good at ball carrying and specialized in end runs. On defense he took care of his man. Dell has another year with us.

VIRE (Quarterback)—"Howard" played a good brand of football throughout the season. He always did his best in choice of plays and was a good ball carrier. He also has another year at our school.

There are three boys—Raymond Fridrich (guard), John Short (end), and Ivan Seibert (end)—who, although they have not played in enough games to merit a major letter, deserve much credit for their spirit throughout the season. Others who were out for football are Porter Compton, Charles Trover, Basil McRoberts, Alonzo Meriwether, Lowell Painter, Bill Weaver, and Bernard BeDell.

BASKETBALL SQUAD

Basketball

High Spots of Aces Flight During 1930-31

The spirit of basketball seemed to pervade the atmosphere at the close of the football season. Coach Gould sent out his call for players, and as was the custom a large number of hopeful candidates answered the call, between twenty and twenty-five husky fellows coming out. Practice for the first game soon began in earnest, and fully equipped the Aces were ready to start on a non-stop flight through the basketball season of 1930-1931.

We first catch a glimpse of the Golden Aces in spirited action at Salem. The boys played a real game in spite of their untested skill, winning by the score of 29-19.

Coming back to the old town the Aces had the honor of dedicating our new gymnasium. The spirit of pride which all felt on this occasion manifested itself in the boys' playing, and the Bridgeport Bulldogs were sunk beneath a barrage of baskets, 39-15.

The Aces then packed their grips for a short sojourn to Evansville. In the ensuing hours after their arrival they engaged themselves in a nip and tuck game of basketball with Reitz. The Aces trailed most of the game but rallied in the last few minutes to win, 27-22.

To celebrate the beginning of the Christmas vacation the Aces defeated Albion, 31-17. The lads from Albion fought gamely, but their efforts were not sufficient to overcome the determination of the Aces, who scored another victory.

The following night we had visitors from a distant city. The Granite City team came to Mt. Carmel with little experience but much determination. However the Aces played in superb form and easily rolled up a score of 37-15.

Returning from their short vacation refreshed in body and in spirit the Aces tangled horns with the basketball representatives from Carmi. The team worked well, and the Carmi lads succumbed before the heavy artillery of the Aces, who won, 43-5.

Basketball—Continued

The Aces left their own playground for the succeeding game, Centralia being the arena for the combat. The Aces played a fighting game and crashed through with enough goals to win, 38-16.

Again the Aces left home, this time for a visit to Olney which did not result in rejoicing. Here the Aces, minus their usual fight and determination, met their first defeat of the year, going down before the Olney five with a score of 18-17.

The next victim of the Golden Aces was Robinson. They came to Mt. Carmel with determination, but they returned home with diminished spirits. The Aces played a good game, though not a spectacular one, and Robinson fell into the slough of defeat, 39-13.

The Aces, becoming restless and chafing under inaction, moved on to Fairfield for their next battle. Minus the services of their regular center the Aces fought gamely and not in vain, for the Fairfield lads, in spite of their struggle, were defeated, 33-24.

As the next week came to an end the Aces once more stepped into harness for their scrap with Mt. Vernon. The latter gave the Aces one of the best fights of the year, but the Aces emerged victorious from the fray with a 27-13 score to their credit.

The victors were now to be the vanquished. Again in the bounds of their own floor, the Aces avenged their earlier defeat at the claws of the Olney Tigers, easily winning by a score of 31-14.

Leaving the old homestead the Aces once again packed their kits and hopped up to Lawrenceville for the first engagement of the year with them. The game was fast and furiously played, but lo! the Indians were on the long end of the score, 36-33, and thus the Aces went down for their second defeat of the season.

Centralia was the Aces' next guest, and the game was a much hotter contest than the two teams' first encounter. The smoke of battle cleared away leaving the Aces victors by a score of 24-17.

Traveling north once more the Aces stopped off in the city of Bridgeport. Despite the barking of the Bulldogs the Aces made themselves welcome. The game was rather uninteresting and tame in spirit as the Aces floated along to easy victory 37-15.

Going far from home the Aces finally landed in Granite City. Their stop resulted in a very interesting game, one much different from their previous battle. The fight was waged back and forth, but the Aces at last soared to victory, 36-31.

Again fretting with the week's rest the Aces wanted to be up and doing, and this time Mt. Vernon held their attention. Journeying to that city the Aces stopped long enough to engage in one of the best contests of the season. The Mt. Vernon lads fought gamely and the Aces could hardly stem their drive, but that winning spirit came through, and the Aces won, 17-14.

Still fresh from their last victory the Aces battled at home with Reitz of Evansville. Instead of being a close fight, as the earlier game of the season indicated that it would be, the contest proved to be one of the most ill-played and least interesting games of the season's schedule. The Aces without effort bowled over Reitz, 31-6.

The last game of the schedule brought a rather unpleasant climax to the season. The Aces, suffering from one defeat at the Indians' hands, decided to avenge that defeat. They started strong and led until the end of the third quarter, but a fighting rally was staged by Lawrenceville, and the Indians won, 22-19. This was the Aces' first defeat at home during the season.

The Aces also participated in two tournaments during the year, the first being the Wabash Valley Tournament, staged at Lawrenceville. The Aces sent their second string into the fray, and playing like veterans they defeated Vincennes' seconds, 30-25. Their next game was in the semi-finals with Lawrenceville, and the Indians barely won, 29-25.

At the end of the season came the annual district tournament, held on the Aces' home floor. The first game was an upset, the Aces being defeated by Fairfield, 22-20. The tournament was won by a fighting Albion team.

CARDS IN THE GOLDEN ACES' PACK

STROH (Forward)—"Cleve" was our very capable captain, leading the team through many victories. He fought hard to win and gave his best throughout each contest.

MANTLE (Forward)—"Tump" was our other fast forward and came into our fold from DuQuoin. "Tump" could be depended upon to do his part in every play. He was fast on the break and was very adept at slipping under the hoop and sinking a basket. He is a Junior and will be a valuable man on the team the first semester next year.

COMPTON (Center)—"Port," our tall center, came to us from Keensburg. He was fast and aggressive and broke up his share of enemy plays during the season. Porter played a steady, fighting brand of basketball and was sportsmanlike in his conduct on the floor.

DeWITT (Guard)—"Paul" was one of the fastest men on the team and handled the ball exceptionally well. He had the determination and grit to stay with the game till the final shot of the pistol.

M. KENNARD (Guard)—"Max," our fast-breaking guard, was another of Keensburg's products who came to us this year. Max played a splendid brand of basketball and remained a true sport throughout each contest. He was fast and aggressive on both defense and offense and fought hard to win.

TROVER (Center)—"Chuck" was the tallest man on the squad, and he used every inch of his height to the fullest advantage while in play. He will be a very valuable pivot man on next year's team.

TAYLOR (Forward)—What "Hubie" lacked in size he counterbalanced with his speed and fighting spirit. He was always in on every play, and he had the true sportman's enthusiasm for clean athletics. Much can be expected of Hubie in his next two years at Mt. C. H. S.

G. KENNARD (Guard)—"Gene" was still another of the Keensburg lads who came to our school this year. He liked basketball and played it heartily every chance that was offered him. He was fast and able to break in on many plays, and his sportsman's spirit was admirable.

ATKINSON (Guard)—"Dell," our heady and flashy guard, will be back again next year. His speed, his handling of the ball, and his ability to gauge the enemy's plays made him an important man on the team. He played a clean and above-board game of ball.

HUNGERFORD (Forward)—"Dade" was one of the tallest men on the team. He played a fast and flashy game of ball and seemed to be in on most of the plays. Hungerford has two more years with us.

There are several boys on the Aces' squad who did not receive major letters but gave their best all season to make it a successful one. We wish to thank these boys for their splendid efforts, their sportsmanship, and their loyalty to the school. Here they are: Howard Vire (forward), Ben Richardson (forward), Hubert Coleman (guard), Lyle Willhite (guard), William Weaver (forward), Roy Talley (guard), Joy Talley (forward).

As a sort of last minute review of the past season we wish to congratulate Coach Gould and the Aces for their splendid display of sportsmanship and school loyalty. The past season has been one of the most successful that a team of Mt. Carmel High School has had for many years. We want to thank the Aces' followers for their encouragement and support and their sportsmanlike attitude both at home and out-of-town. We wish the coach a team next year which will equal this year's, as well as a most successful season for 1931-32.

Track

At the conclusion of the basketball season the call for track aspirants was issued. In response to the call some thirty boys came out to show their athletic ability in the line of track and field events. A few dropped out of the race, as is usual, while the rest determined to see the season to its end. Coach Gould has been putting them through their paces in practice for the meets to be held.

Following is a list of the boys and the events in which they participate:

Frey.....Half-mile relay, 100 yd. dash, 220 yd. dash, 440 yd. dash.
H. Camp.....Half-mile relay, 100 yd. dash, 220 low hurdles, broad jump.
Mantle.....Half-mile relay, 220 yd. dash, high jump, javelin.
Meriwether.....Half-mile relay, high jump, broad jump.
Atkinson.....Half-mile relay, mile relay, 220 yd. dash, discus.
Miller.....Mile run, half-mile run.
M. Kennard.....Mile relay.
P. DeWitt.....High jump, broad jump, pole vault.
C. Camp.....Mile relay.
Prather.....Half-mile run.
Trover.....High jump, shot put.
Vire.....Mile relay, pole vault.
Weaver.....Pole vault.
Cotner.....Discus.

The following meets are on the season's schedule: Dual Meet (Grayville and Mt. Carmel), Triangular Meet (Princeton, Evansville, and Mt. Carmel), Herrin Relays, Northeastern Conference Meet, Wabash Valley Meet, District Meet, State Meet.

Baseball

For many years our school has sponsored only three major athletic sports: football, basketball, and track. This year for the first time Mt. Carmel High School will be represented by a fast nine on the baseball diamond.

The call for candidates early in March was answered by some twenty boys. As soon as the weather permitted, outdoor practice was held, and the boys, under the efficient tutelage of Coach Garrett, began to work earnestly in preparation for their schedule.

A general line up of the players and their positions is as follows: Compton (P), Woods (P., 2nd B.), DeWitt (S. S.), Kirkpatrick (1st B.), Collins (C., 3rd B.), R. Talley (C), M. Kennard (C. F., 1st B.), Mantle (S. S.), Presnell (R. F.), G. Kennard (R. F.), Hungerford (L. F.), Mayne (L.F.), Seitz (C., C. F.), Newkirk (C. F.), Walston (2nd B., C. F.).

An interesting schedule has been arranged with the following teams: Bone Gap, Allendale, Princeton, Oakland City, Reitz.

LOYALTY SONG

Mt. Carmel High to thee our love we bring,
To thee our hearts and minds will ever cling,
Thy fame of other days, thy gifts so free,
Call us today, to sing our praise to thee.

Love and honor to Mt. Carmel,
Our high school old and grand,
Proudly we will ever hail thee
Over all the land;
Old Maroon and Gold we toast you
Through victories and defeats,
Love and honor to Mt. Carmel,
Alma Mater here's to you.

NATIONAL ATHLETIC HONOR SOCIETY

The object of this organization is to create high scholastic standards among athletes. Any boy is eligible to membership who has a major athletic letter and a scholastic standard average or above.

AN OLD ATHLETE'S LAMENT

Tell him not in mournful numbers
That his playing days are o'er!
For the man is dead that slumbers,
Does not wish to play some more.

Feats of great men all remind him
That he helped to hold the fort,
And departing left behind him
Footprints in the realm of sport.

Footprints that perhaps are dim
But nonetheless will stay,
Footprints that were made by him,
In his youth of yesterday.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

This year, as in many years past, the athletic efforts of the girls have brought credit to Mt. Carmel High School. The governing authority over their prowess is the G. A. A., which has lived through four years of testing and is holding its own in the organizations of the school. Miss Goedecke has sponsored this club from its beginning and deserves much credit for her work in developing girls' athletics here. Miss O'Neal has ably filled the position of assistant sponsor this year.

This year the member of the G. A. A. looked forward to the enjoyable hours which were to be spent in various outdoor activities. During the early fall the girls, starting out in groups, went on long hikes and picnics. Points toward their letters to be awarded at the end of the athletic season could be gained by participating in these events. The hiking groups were ably captained by Vera Seybold.

As the weather grew a little too chilly for hiking, the girls tried their hands at volley ball. A large number proved themselves interested in the game, and their efficient playing warranted a class meet. Several games were contested between the class teams captained by the following: Freshman, Claire Grubbs; Sophomore, Jerine Hungerford; Junior and Senior, Grace Kirkman. In the end the Juniors were victorious.

As the winter advanced, basketball became the girls' major sport. The call for candidates brought such a large number of hopeful players that two separate squads had to be organized. The lower classmen were headed by Captain Helen Madden, and the upper classmen by Captain Isabel Beauchamp. They practiced diligently for a tournament to be staged between teams representing the various classes.

In the early spring the members of the G. A. A. provided for skating teams headed by Clarice Kramer, captain. A few excursions were made by the girls early in March, and as the weather grew warmer the girls skated and hiked frequently.

The climax of interest is reached with the coming of "Play Day," which is held in May. This event provides an opportunity for each girl to show her superior or inferior ability in athletics. This year it will be held at Bridgeport. The events of the day consist of contests in practically every form of girls' athletics engaged in during the year.

There is also a system of gaining points toward a letter by hiking, participating in certain sports, adhering to definite health rules, and passing health examinations. Last year letters were awarded to Leona Dean and Catherine Gilkison.

This year for the first time the following girls were entertained at the Athletic Banquet and were awarded letters: Margaret Kelly, Alice Schrodt, Chima Mae Miller, Fernleah Kingsbury, Lenora Dean, and Grace Kirkman.

BAND

Our band is now three years old. It is of exceptional interest to know that the two Perkins brothers are responsible for this wonderful unit. In 1929 Mr. Lon Perkins organized the first Mt. Carmel High School band. Then in 1930 Mr. Floyd Perkins came to our school, and through his untiring efforts he has procured for our Alma Mater the distinction of having one of the best bands in southeastern Illinois.

The band, of 45 members, deserves much credit for its constant support of our athletic teams, having been present at all home games and several out-of-town games during the football and basketball season. It has presented a snappy appearance in maroon and gold uniform and has displayed excellent drill work.

The band gave a concert in March, and it tied for second place in the band contest held at Bridgeport in April.

REGULAR ORCHESTRA

The High School Orchestra has met regularly for rehearsals during the year. It has taken part in several institute programs and has also appeared before the Rotary Club.

PICK-UP ORCHESTRA

The Pick-Up Orchestra has been quite popular this year, furnishing music for banquets, plays, professional clubs, and various activities held at school and outside of school.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

A new musical organization was added to our school this year, namely the Boys' Glee Club, which has twenty-eight members. The school appreciates the work which these boys have done and feels that this organization is a real asset. It appeared at convocation and also took part in the Band Concert given in April.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club is one of the outstanding organizations of the school. It has participated in convocation and institute programs. The operetta is presented every year by this club, which is also active at Commencement. Each girl who is a member for two years receives a large letter "M" which signifies her award in music.

"THE BELLE OF BAGDAD"
(1930 Operetta)

The Belle of Bagdad is a lovely girl for whom Dick Taylor, a film representative from Hollywood, is searching in order to engage her as a movie star. The camera which he and his two airplane mechanics carry causes them to be arrested, but they escape in disguise, find the assassin whom the police are hunting, and also the Belle.

Chorus of College Boys and Girls

Kenneth (Snooze) Andrews, a comedian with the Marden College Glee Club, is in love with the fair Dolly McSpadden but is unable to gain the good will of President McSpadden, her father, because of his tendency for getting into scraps.

On the day of our story Snooze has one more encounter with a traffic officer because he has made a hurried trip to the city to get a costume for use in the May Festival program that evening. In order to help him evade the officer, Hamilton Hunter, leader of the Glee Club, and Mark Watson, college yell leader, have him disguise himself in the costume he has rented.

In his disguise Snooze is mistaken by Dr. McSpadden for a wealthy foreigner, well-known benefactor of colleges such as Marden, and is treated with every courtesy, including Dolly's encouragements, which are pleasing to him, as well as the eager interest taken in him by Miss Agatha Lockstep, house-mother at the girls' dormitory, which annoys him. He finally confesses his identity to both the officer and Dr. McSpadden. At this climax a letter comes from the wealthy foreigner stating that he has been much impressed by one of the Marden boys and is enclosing a check for $50,000 for the college endowment fund.

The courteous boy was Snooze, who claims Dolly as his reward, and the end foretells a rosy future for all, including Hamilton and Marjorie, the belle of the campus, Mark and Amy, a junior, and Willie and Birdie, two freshmen.

Gilbert Lansing, a writer.....Darrell Joachims
Philip Grant, a millionaire.....Robert Mundy
Sadie Sodastrom, a ticket agent.....Helen Kohlhaas
Jean Moore Foster, Ruth's sister.....Roberta Foster

This play is the story of Ruth Moore, a wealthy and much sought-after young girl with literary ambitions, who, distracted by social demands and eager to have some definite and worthwhile work, obtains the position of secretary to Gilbert Lansing, a well-known editor and writer. Before entering upon her new duties, she, with Juliet, goes to Willodene, the summer home of her married sister, who has invited them for the week-end to meet two friends of her husband.

In the waiting room of a country junction they meet Gilbert Lansing and Philip Grant, who have run out of gas on their way to Willodene. Without revealing their identity the four become acquainted. In their efforts to help an eloping couple Ruth and Gilbert assume the role of bride and groom. Difficulties arise, but they are eventually straightened out, identities are discovered, and Ruth becomes permanent secretary to the celebrity.

PRIVATE LIFE OF THE STAFF ROOM

Small as I am, shut off in one corner of the long corridor, I play, nevertheless, an important part in the publication of that wonderful annual, the Sibylline. Soon after school has begun each year, I am greeted by new faces. I am opened, the summer's cobwebs are wiped away, and I am prepared for another year of service. I am changed each year to suit the fancies and desires of my new residents, receiving a new table, or shelf, or perhaps a coat of paint, but I am the same at heart, planned for the greatest convenience and maximum service, and willing to give my best.

I soon resume my former habits, as books and papers grow in piles on my shelves and tables, and eager boys and girls gather regularly within my walls to plan and scheme for the "greatest yearbook ever to be published." As Christmas draws near, my load increases. Soon myriads of pictures clutter about me (unfamiliar at first to me, since they lie outside my acquaintance), and I am the scene, from early to late, of students who mount them on a large gray board with an odd-smelling cement—(though the variety of the latter seems to change each year, I confess it grows no more pleasing to my sense of smell).

The three winter months are my busiest—there is such an air of industry and rushing that my fever rises, but someone scurries up the ladder and removes my little door which opens onto the roof above, and the heavenly air brings us both pleasant relief. There are more pictures, and boards, and writings, and papers, but gradually the work is finished and sent away, and it is with a certain sadness that I am patiently stripped of all my beloved materials and await another year in which to serve the makers of the Sibylline and the school of which I am a part.

—ROBERTA FOSTER.

Social Events

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

On Friday evening, May 16, 1930, the Junior Class of 1930 had as its guests the Seniors and members of the Faculty and Board of Education at one of the most elaborate Junior-Senior banquets ever given in the Mt. Carmel High School.

After crossing the gang plank the guests and hosts were served at individual tables on the deck of the S. S. Senior. Rose candles in silver ships, small traveling bags for nut cups, unique passports, and favors of rose buds graced each table.

Four stowaways, Eileen Maine, Nedra Bright, Lavine Kirkman, and James Schrodt, were found on the ship and were made to give a clever performance to earn their passage. Mr. Barnds, Junior class adviser, acted as captain of the ship. Robert Henneberger, Junior Class President welcomed the guests. Judge W. S. Willhite gave the talk of the evening, "Launched, Not Anchored." Mr. Condrey gave some interesting advice to the Seniors in his "Bon Voyage." After the program the deck was cleared for dancing.

A lovely four-course dinner was served by thirty Sophomore girls dressed in sailor suits.

SENIOR HALLOWE'EN PARTY

During the Hallowe'en season the Seniors gave a party in the old gymnasium. Features of the evening's entertainment were the treasure hunt, which led from strawboard to dam, county infirmary, and graveyard, with many stops along the way, and an operation which was performed in which a man was completely dissected. Delicious refreshments of pumpkin pie and cider were served, after which the guests danced, Mr. Perkins and his snappy orchestra furnishing music.

BEAN SUPPER

Contrary to the general rule of having a separate football and basketball banquet it was decided this year to have an informal bean supper at the close of the football season and then have a big athletic banquet in the spring to honor both teams.

So bean-suppering we did go, and what a supper! It was served cafeteria style in the old gymnasium. The pick-up orchestra furnished music while we ate, after which a pep meeting was held and Coach Gould presented the football boys with their well-earned letters.

ATHLETIC BANQUET

Radio fans who tuned in on Station M. T. C. on April 2, 1931, at 6:30 o'clock central standard time, heard a program they will long remember. The guests of the evening were the members of the football and basketball teams together with the G. A. A. girls who had earned letters. Mr. Condrey served as announcer, introducing the various stars appearing on the program. The "selectivity" was Mr. Phil Brown of Terre Haute, Indiana. Letters were awarded the athletes at the close of the program.

History of the School

The first high school in Mt. Carmel was held in the upper floor of the old Seminary building, built in 1858 on the site of the present high school, with Mr. J. W. Heninger, principal, and Miss Kate Stillwell, assistant principal. In 1882 the first class, consisting of two pupils, was graduated.

At a meeting of the school board on May 11, 1891, "the president appointed a member of the board to purchase a suitable site for a new school building in the central part of the city." As a result, Central School was built on the corner of Eighth and Mulberry Streets. The four rooms of the upper floor were given over to the High School students, with one teacher for each room.

On September 4, 1914 the present High School, built on the old Seminary site, was dedicated. There were seven teachers, including the principal. A class of sixteen pupils was graduated that year.

This year has witnessed the completion of our new gymnasium and grade school, a building of which the whole community should be proud. The gymnasium, with its fine stage and basketball floor and its large seating capacity, provides an excellent place for various activities and programs. The music and manual training departments are also situated in the new building. The grade department consists of first, second, and third grades, and the Junior High School, of seventh and eighth grades.

Several changes have been made in the high school during the past year. Besides the new music and manual training rooms, the library has been moved to larger and lighter quarters, and the agricultural department, installed this year, has taken over the old eighth grade annex and remodeled and landscaped the grounds. New commercial courses in office practice and salesmanship are also being offered this year, as well as vocational training. The athletic program has been expanded to include in addition to football and basketball, baseball, intramural basketball, and boys' physical training.

Mt. Carmel High School offers to its students the advantages of a modern school and has as its policy that of continuous adjustment compatible with modern tendencies in education.

COURSE OF STUDY

As evidence of a growing need for enrichment of curriculum to provide for the needs of all pupils, our present course of studies with four distinct curriculums—academic, boys' vocational, girls' vocational, and commercial—can be compared with the first course of study prescribed by Mt. Carmel High School consisting of the academic curriculum only and offering the following subjects: Latin, Grammar, Caesar, One Book of Virgil, English Literature, Rhetoric, Plane Geometry, Zoology, Physiology, Ancient and Medieval History, and Algebra.

The present academic curriculum is designed primarily to prepare pupils for college who expect to pursue higher learning. It is a continuation of the traditional high school and offers approximately the same subjects.

The Boys' Vocational Curriculum includes manual training (bench work, care of tools, wood work, finishing, and mechanical drawing), and agriculture (soils and crops, animal husbandry, and farm mechanics).

The Girls' Vocational Curriculum offers practical work in cooking, sewing, designing, and house planning.

The Commercial Curriculum prepares students for participation in the commercial field. Typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, commercial arithmetic, salesmanship, and office theory and practice are offered in this curriculum.

In addition to the above curriculums an extra-curricular activities period is reserved when the following clubs may meet: History, Biology, Latin, French, F. A. A., Home Economics, Debate, Literary, G. A. A., and Science.

Much stress is given to music. The school has a first and second band, a regular and a pick-up orchestra, girls' glee club, girls' quartette, boys' glee club, boys' quartette, and gives an operetta each year which provides training for many voices. Pupils are given class and individual instruction on various instruments.

All Freshman and Sophomore boys and girls, unless excused on a doctor's permit, are required to take physical training two periods each week. The regular athletic teams in football, basketball, baseball, track, and tennis offer training for many boys. Others may participate in intramural sports.

The school's policy is to enrich its offering to the extent that every pupil can be given the training which will enable him or her to be the greatest success possible in life.

MY PRAYER

Dear Lord when I am born again,
May I ask one thing of you—
Make all my profs. my pupils, Lord,
So I can give them all a U.
—C. J. DEPUTY.

Hazel Gray: "Do you think that plastic surgery would injure my features?"
Port. Compton: "No."
Hazel: "Then what would you suggest?"
Port.: "Blasting."

Mr. Scales (At pep meeting): "———— and I want to see every student there!"
Dick Hurst (In the rear): "Well, that let's me out."

Hugh Frey: "What did you have for dinner?"
Dorothy S.: "Two guesses."
Hugh: "No wonder you were so hungry tonight."

Maxine S.: "Does the orchestra play request numbers?"
Mr. Perkins: "Certainly."
Maxine: "Then ask them to play 'Together.'"
Mr. Perkins: "They're doing the best they can for the practice they've had."

Mr. Condrey: "My wife is just the one to run for Congress."
Edith Kamp: "How is that?"
Mr. Condrey: "She is always introducing bills into the house."

Miss O'Neal: "Do you believe in clubs for women?"
Miss Baird: "Yes, if kindness fails."

Waiter: "Prunes or oatmeal, ma'am?"
Marietta W.: "Don't tell me. Let me guess."

Culbreth: "Doctor, I feel all upset—my stomach rumbles like an old Ford, and my breath tastes like exhaust. What's the trouble?"

Doctor: "Probably only the truck you had for dinner."

Dale Howerton (Listening to boys' quartette): "Mother, why do those four boys sing together all the time?"

Mrs. Howerton: "Sh, dear. None of them wants to take all the blame."

Baggerly: "If I'm studying when you come in, wake me up."

Marjorie B.: "How dare you kiss me? Get out of this house at once."

Harold C.: "Well, before I go I want to ask one favor of you."

Marjorie: "Well, what is it?"

Harold: "Will you please take your arm from around my neck?"

Bob L.: "I can't give you anything but love, baby—"

Roberta P.: "Well, hurry up, let's have it."

Stands the tall and gloomy standpipe.
Near the standpipe stands a building,
Stands a tall and famous building:
In this building are the teachers,
Are the loved and disliked teachers;
'Neath the teachers are the students,
Are the poor and misjudged students;
'Mong these students there are five,
Five of fame and future power:
Compton, center, tall and stately;
Kennard, guard, is strong and sturdy;
Stroh, the captain, brave and stalwart;
DeWitt, guard, is fast and flashy;
Mantle, forward, liked by all.
O'er these five the mighty Gould
Rules with strong and powerful effort;
Rules the great and famous "Aces"—
"Aces" known the wide world over,
Known as victors and as sportsmen
Are our long remembered "Aces."

AFTER HIGH SCHOOL—WHAT?

In every High School Senior class there are a few folks who are adapted to the greatest of all professions—BUSINESS. For such folks, there are wonderful opportunities in the business world. A few months of intensive study in a good business school enable these folks to enter the business office at a very satisfactory beginning salary and put them in line for opportunities far above the average.

Many former graduates of the Mt. Carmel High School have chosen Lockyear's Business College as "their way up."

We would like to tell you what these folks are doing now.

SATISFACTION IS A SILENT WORKMAN
HE WORKS HERE

MT. CARMEL STEAM BAKERY

Give me at first a porch like this
And two veranda chairs,
A beautiful night, a beautiful moon,
Two minds devoid of cares;
A strain of music far away,
A breeze to stir your hair,
A touch of sentiment and then—
Remove a single chair.

Phyllis E.: "Oh, Adrian, last night I dreamed I was dancing with you."

Adrian C.: "Oh, what a wonderful emotion it gives me to think that you would dream of me."

Phyllis E.: "And then I woke up to find my kid brother pounding my feet with a stick."

Bryan D.: "Why did he soak you?"
Charles T.: "I said his brother looked like an ape."
Bryan: "That's no reason."
Charles: "Well, they're twin brothers."

BUGHOUSE FABLES

A Scotchman throwing away two-dollar bills and a Jew picking them up and handing them back to him.

Bill Newkirk: "How is that?"
Latham: "He double-crossed the sea."

THE FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL

The freshies sat in ignorance,
They believed it was their custom;
The sophomores grew belligerent,
But decided they would trust them;
The juniors seemed quite dignified,
Still striving for the poles,
While all the seniors signified
That they had reached their goals.

IT NEVER MISSES ME

Fate has handed me some knocks—
Mumps and measles, chicken-pox,
Rheumatism, Spanish flu,
Everything a germ can do.

I'm immune to most of them,
Life is rather microbe free,
But though I dodge a host of them,
Spring fever never misses me.

I can often steer my ship
Past the rocky reef of grippe;
I'm exempt from tonsilitis,
Gout, dyspepsia or bronchitis.

I've tried to learn to duck and squirm,
And while I've gained agility
In diving past each little germ,
Spring fever never misses me.

The symptoms warn me every year,
And when my yawns have numbered ten
And sure as sunny days appear,
I know that I am hit again.

When I turn to writing verse
Lacking rhyme or sanity,
Then I know I'm growing worse,
Spring fever never misses me.
